

Tampa Service Agency Acquired

Fairfield, Conn.-based North American Commercial Parts and Service has acquired Commercial Appliance Parts and Service of Tampa, Fla.

North American is a holding company of regional service agencies. In addition to this acquisition, it owns A-Tech Commercial Parts & Service, Manchester, Conn., as well as Industrial Electric Commercial Parts & Service in Huntington Beach, Calif.

According to North American, Commercial Appliance has branches in Jacksonville, Northport and Orlando, giving North American coverage of much of Florida.

Additionally, the company has indicated intentions to expand in that state. "Florida is an exceptional market," said Wes Tyler, president of North American. "Building on our current offices, we plan to bring foodservice equipment users the type of localized, high-quality equipment service and parts availability that they demand, throughout the entire state of Florida."